

Eight Lives to Go... For ages our society has been using the idea of the undead rising, as a myth. But were we wrong to assume that return from the dead is impossible? The answer is in the question.

Recently, an astonishing story splashed across news pages all over America. The news shocked its readers down to the Earth's core. Apparently, two weeks ago a cat named Bart from Florida was hit by a car. Its owner Ellis Hutson had discovered Bart dead and lying in a pool of blood in the middle of the road. Needless to say Hutson was heartbroken. He stated during an interview that he was close to his cat and that it was painful for him to bury it. So, Hutson had asked his friend David, to help him dig a hole in the yard and bury the late Bart. And that was that.

However, the amazing part of the story soon made its way to the surface. About five days later, one of Hutson's neighbors discovered Bart injured, but alive at their doorstep. Somehow, the cat managed to climb out of its grave and make its way towards the neighbor's house. The neighbor then, brought Bart to Hutson's house. "I open the door and my neighbor's standing there with the cat in her hand," Hutson stated during an interview, "The only thing I can think of is that this is God's miracle." Bart is currently recovering from his injuries and needs money in order to fix his jaw and eye. That's why the owner's friend has started an online site to raise money for the surgery. Bart was a lucky cat and hopefully, still has eight lives left. People may not agree on how this poor cat was able to comeback from the dead, but they're sure to admit that we should all drive carefully. Bart was hit by a car and his story will serve as constant reminder about all the victims from such accidents. This time it was a cat from Florida, but the next time it can be a child. If humans take their time and follow driving instructions, millions of lives can benefit and be saved. By: Ekaterina Z. Editor: Jeyda B.

Be Mine, Valentine

*Cupid shot me with a dart
Hitting straight into my heart
New emotions came to me
Blind with love, I could not see
All around me seemed so bright
I no longer had to fight
Finally, my life was sweet
Days became to me a treat!
Everyday seemed great and new
As my thoughts lingered on you
Tears had long dried off my face
Disappearing into space
This was love and it was deep
Till you got me gifts too cheap!*

Katy Perry was great at Super Bowl 49. She had fast costume changes with flaming, summer, jersey and silver dresses. Her fire top and skirt compared to Will Ferrell's outfit in, Blades of Glory; which has caused the app, iFunny to explode with humorous pictures. She also had a playful summer dress with sharks, beach balls, and palm trees.

While, Missy Elliot, was singing Katy Perry came out in a jersey type of dress with the number 49. Finally she came out with the "Now You Know" star, to match her silver, and filled with stars dress. Katy Perry will always be remembered for this performance.

PAJAMA DRIVE

It is a fact that when most of us go to sleep, we wear pajamas. Every evening, we go to sleep, many of us not realizing what a privilege it is to even wear the pajamas that our parents buy for us. In the present day, countless people live without much money. Though it may seem absurd, there are children who live their daily life without the comfort of pajamas, or even a book to read.

Throughout this rather cold month of February, Anthony Wayne Middle School is participating in a program known as the "Pajama Program." This program collects pajamas, as well as books, and donates them to the families and children that are below the poverty level. It helps in the simple education of the deprived and poor children by giving them books to read, and also helps to comfort children at nighttime. Impressively, since 2001, when this "Pajama Program" was founded, they managed to donate "more than 2 Million new pajamas and new books to children in need" throughout the country. * By depositing a simple, new pair of pajamas, or a new book, in one of the bins located in the front hallway of our school, you can contribute to this nationwide foundation's work, and help make the less privileged kids throughout our area happier. By: Andy B.

ASK AN EIGHTH GRADER

Dear Eighth Graders,

Is there a way to see last years paper too? I really enjoyed it and if i could get the link, that would be great. THANKS!

From, Sir Awesome Pants

Dear Sir Awesome Pants,

Yes, there is actually a way to access last year's newspaper. In order to access it, first, you should go to the Anthony Wayne website (<http://aw.wayneschools.com>). Next, hover over the School Communications tab. You should see six choices on the right. Click on the AW Golden Gazette, and you will be directed to this paper. From there, you can click on the "Old Paper" section of the newspaper. That should bring you to last year's Website.

If you're too lazy to go through the steps, here's the link:
